

Tommy Guerrero

At one time better known as a professional skateboarder, Tommy Guerrero launched his musical career in 1998 with the release of Loose Grooves & Bastard Blues on Galaxia Records. He has since released a solid string of albums and EP's on Galaxia, Mo 'Wax, and Quannum Projects, including 2008's Return of the Bastard. A multi-instrumentalist, Tommy mixes up rhythm guitar, jazzy organs, hip-hop beats, samples, and latin influences to make music that is diverse, yet consistently funky, providing a great soundtrack to a variety of potential projects.

Over the last few years Tommy Guerrero's music has been heard in a number of places from video games to television commercials in Japan, the menus on Turner Classic Movie Network to CSI Miami and Sex and The City.

Notable Placements

TELEVISION

HBO; Darren Star Productions	"Sex and the City" (4 episodes)
Paramount/CBS	"CSI Miami" (2 episodes)
Showtime; Temple St	"Queer As Folk"
Showtime; Left/Right	"An American Life" (3 episodes)
Home & Garden Network	"Todd Oldham's Hand Made Modern"
Turner Classic Movies	Channel menus

MOTION PICTURES

Ugly Winners LLC	"Beautiful Losers" motion picture
Moonshine Conspiracy	"Sprout" motion picture

VIDEO GAMES

Activision	"Tony Hawk American Wasteland"
EA Games	"Skate"
2k8	"NBA"

PRODUCT MARKETING

Adidas	television commercials (2)
Mountain Dew	X-games television commercial
DC Shoes	Interactive website
Shiseido	television commercial (Japan)

OTHER

Los Angeles Museum of Contemporary Art	Installation
--	--------------

CONTACT

Al Evers | A Train Entertainment | alevers@a-train.com | 510-893-4705